EUFMC 2026 Keynote Speaker to Address How Industry Disruption Is Reshaping Utility Fleets

From the Grid to the Garage: How Industry Disruption Is Reshaping Utility Fleets will be the focus of the EUFMC 2026 Keynote Address by Peter Waldrab, Vice President-Electric Distribution at LG&E and KU.

Leading off the EUFMC General Session, Waldrab will cover how challenges from explosive load growth to more volatile and destructive weather, heightened customer affordability concerns, and a rapidly shifting regulatory landscape are transforming how utilities equip the people who build, maintain, and restore the grid.

“This keynote will explore how challenges translate directly into vehicle fleet strategy,” Waldrab said. “As utilities balance reliability, cost, safety, and sustainability, fleet leaders are being asked to rethink long-standing assumptions about vehicle mix, infrastructure, and lifecycle management. From ICE to EV to hybrid, from mobile power to storm response readiness, from traditional maintenance models to data-driven fleet management, fleets need to be an enabling extension of grid strategy.”

Waldrab, a 20-year veteran of utility industry leadership roles across electric transmission and distribution operations, was named to his current position overseeing electric distribution operations for LG&E and KU in 2022. Prior to joining LG&E and KU, he worked for PPL in leadership roles supporting development and implementation of the utility’s distribution smart grid system, and in the digital transformation of field work.

Waldrab also serves on the Southeast Electric Exchange board of directors, the Edison Electric Institute National Response Executive Committee, EPRI’s Distribution Sector Advisory Council, AEIC’s Power Delivery committee, and the Greater Louisville American Red Cross board.
